B) Report

I. Title: Awareness of Savings and Investment

II. Introduction

Savings are important in every person's life. Savings are important in the face of many challenges that may arise in the future, such as the marriage of a girl child, hospitalization, business risk, etc. Savings come from income. If you invest these savings in the right place at the right time, you can earn income from it. As income increases, savings will increase automatically, and when savings increase, investment will increase and this will raise the standard of living of the individual. If the standard of living of an individual is raised, then it can be said that economic development of that country is definitely taking place. Therefore, the savings tendency of the people should be increased and the savings should be properly invested. So that view the Awareness of Savings and Investment program was implemented by the Department of Economics.

Objectives of program:

- ❖ To give details the Importance of Saving to Individuals.
