B) Report

I. Title: Dr. B. R. Ambedkar Economics Students Association Inauguration Function

II. Introduction:

The Department of Economics successfully organized the formal inauguration ceremony of the Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Economics Students' Association on 16 September 2026 at the VLC Hall at 11:00 AM. This initiative was designed to establish an active academic platform for students to foster intellectual growth, explore economic concepts, and develop leadership qualities. The ceremony was graced by distinguished guests, faculty members, and students. Dr. Anand Shewale from Mahatma Basaweshwar Mahavidyalaya, Latur, served as the Chief Inaugurator.

III. Objectives of Programme:

1. To officially inaugurate the Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Economics Students' Association and establish a vibrant academic forum for student development.
2. To provide students with valuable insights into fundamental and contemporary economic concepts through expert guidance.
3. To encourage academic competitiveness and creative expression by hosting poster-making and essay writing competitions.
4. To recognize and appreciate student achievements by felicitating competition winners with certificates and bouquets.
5. To promote leadership, organizational skills, and active participation among economics students.

IV. Details of Participants:

70 Participants (25 Male and 45 Female) attended this programme.

V. Brief Summary of Programme:

On 16 September 2026 inauguration program commenced at 11:00 AM in the VLC Hall with a warm welcome extended to all dignitaries, faculty members, and student participants. The event formally began with introductory remarks and the welcoming of the honored guests. The introductory speech was delivered by Ms. Ashwini Mane, President of the Economics Student Association. In her address, she outlined the vision, purpose, and future scope of the association. She highlighted the importance of student-led academic bodies in creating opportunities for collaborative learning, discussions, and skill building beyond standard classroom teaching.

Following the inaugural proceedings, the event proceeded to the prize distribution ceremony honoring the achievers of the Poster Competition and Essay Competition organized by the department. Prof. Rupali Jadhav announced the official results of both competitions, praising the participants for their analytical thinking, research, and creative representation of economic themes. The winners who secured top positions were felicitated by the department with certificates of merit and bouquets in recognition of their outstanding performance and dedication. The Chief Inaugurator of the program, Dr. Anand Shewale (Mahatma Basaveshwar Mahavidyalaya, Latur), then addressed the gathering. In his insightful inaugural speech, he explained several crucial concepts of economics in a lucid and relatable manner. He emphasized the relevance of economic literacy in understanding real-world socio-economic dynamics, national policy formulation, and everyday decision-making. He urged students to look beyond theoretical knowledge and apply economic principles to analyze contemporary challenges. Dr. B.P. Gadekar, Head, Department of Economics delivered the presidential concluding remarks for the program. The program concluded smoothly with a formal vote of thanks delivered by Ms. Neha Kamble. She expressed sincere gratitude to the chief inaugurator, chief guest, faculty members, student organizers, and the audience for their presence, support, and enthusiastic participation, making the event a resounding success.

VI. Conclusion, with Feedback on the Programme:

The inauguration of the Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Economics Students' Association was a remarkable success, setting a strong foundation for future academic and co-curricular endeavors within the Department of Economics. By bringing together experienced academicians and motivated students, the event served its primary objective of inspiring young minds to appreciate the vast scope and practical applications of economics. Overall, the event successfully fostered a spirit of academic inquiry, collaboration, and enthusiasm among students. The Department of Economics looks forward to conducting more seminars, workshops, and student-centric activities under the banner of the Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Economics Students' Association throughout the academic year.
