B) Report

i. Title: Eight Days Online Modi Script Training Workshop

ii. Introduction:

The Department of History organized an Online Workshop on Modi Script Training. The workshop was conducted for eight days from 23rd to 30th October 2021. Dr. Kamaji Dak, Coordinator, Department of Archaeology, Government of Maharashtra, Aurangabad was the resource person.

iii. Objectives of the Program:

1. To create interest in students about Modi Script.
2. To motivate the students to read and study the historical documents in Maratha Period.
3. To introduce the historical script to the students.
4. To preserve and conserve of the historical script.
5. To teach the students to read and write the script easily

iv. Details of the Participants:

100 students (52 girls and 48 boys) from BA FY, SY and TY and 03 teachers (01 male and 02 females) participated in the workshop.

v. Brief Summary of the Program:

The Department of History organized an Online Modi Script Training Workshop from 23rd to 30th October 2021. The original history of the Marathas is in Modi script. But the script is an endangered script due to the lack of writers and readers. So, it is our duty to preserve the script. The knowledge of the script will help the future generation to read various documents about our ancestral property, farms, villages etc. The most important advantage is that we can bring in the light the unknown history of Marathas. That's why the workshop was organized. The word 'Modi' has been derived from the Persian word 'Shikast' means to cut, to mould.

The script was developed to overcome the difficulties faced in Devanagari script. The known history of the script is 700 years old. The available historic documents and sources indicate that Hemadri Pant who was the minister in the court of Yadavas of Devgiri was the father of the script. He is also given the credit to introduce the Hemadpanthi style of architecture. The script got importance in the Shiv Era. The documents in the era were written in the script. The script was widely used especially during the reign of Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj. His minister Balaji Aavaji used the script for the first time in seventeenth century for administrative correspondence. He understood the importance of the script as it is written speedily than the Devanagari. During the period later Peshwaai, the Marathas went to Malawa, Gujarat, Bengal, Rajasthan, Orissa and Karnataka for the collection of Chauthai and Sardeshmukhi. They established the rule of Marathas there. They continued the correspondence with Pune in Modi script. So, the documents were developed in Modi Script. The script has a lot of importance in history, but still while studying the Indian script, the script is not discussed.

The Modi script was in use officially in Maharashtra till late 19th century. In the beginning of 20th century, the British government used the Devnagri script for the smooth functioning of the administration in Maharashtra. Devnagri script was called as Balbodh in Maharashtra. The Modi script was taught in Maharashtra schools till 1952. In 40s, people used the script for financial transactions and personal documentation. Over time, the use of this script diminished and it is now almost extinct. One of the features of the Modi script is that the style of writing changes person to person. That's way the British government thought deeply about the use of the script officially. Some people were firm to use the Devnagri script as it is grammatically accurate than the Modi script. The use of script was stopped in schools also after 1952.

vi. Conclusion with feedback on the Program:

The students taught the Modi Script to write and read. Apart from this they got a lot of knowledge about different aspects in Maratha administration. They could also learn the various concepts in Modi Script.
