iii. Brief Summary of Events/ Sessions: -

This thematic guest lecture was organized by the Department of Sociology; it highlighted the importance of health in today's youth. The guest lecture was conducted by Dr. Amruta Patil. The guest lecture was started by Mr. Bhagavant Bokade, followed by Ms. Sayali Samudre giving introduction of the resource person Dr. Patil. Further program was taken over by Dr. Patil, wherein she began with her lecture. She began with telling the students about the great leader on whose birth anniversary the program was conducted, she talked about their values and how students should hold them up as idols for living a good and healthy life. She also made students understand about good and bad habits which will have long term impact on our lifestyle. She suggested about the more than normal use of phones by youths, she also highlighted how learning good habits can develop not just our health but also make us an asset for our society. Dr. Patil highlighted on overall development and notably pointed out on a proper and healthy lifestyle for the youths today. The floor was opened to discussions later on, where we heard quite good questions and comments from the participants. The program was concluded with vote of thanks presented by Mr. Bhagavant Bokade.
