B) Report

i. Title:

A Seminar on Environmental Sustainability and Human Values (Inter Departmental Activity between Faculty of Commerce & NSS)

ii. Introduction

The Faculty of Commerce has organized in collaboration with NSS organized an inter-departmental seminar on Environmental Sustainability and Human Values to create awareness among students about sustainable practices and value-based living. As environmental sustainability has become a crucial global concern in the present era due to increasing environmental degradation, climate change, and depletion of natural resources. Along with this, human values such as responsibility, awareness, and ethical behavior play a vital role in protecting the environment.

iii. Objectives of the Programme/ issues addressed:

1. To create awareness about environmental issues and sustainability.
2. To promote eco-friendly habits and responsible behavior among students.
3. To highlight the importance of human values in environmental protection.
4. To encourage students to actively participate in environmental conservation activities.
5. To develop a sense of social responsibility towards nature and society.

iv. Details of Participants:

Total participants 99 (29 Male and 70 Female) were present for the orientation activity.

v. Brief Summary of Events/ Sessions

A Seminar on Environmental Sustainability and Human Values was conducted to introduce the students to concept and importance of environmental sustainability and human values. The program began with a welcome and felicitation of resource person. The introductory speech was given by Dr. P. R. Rodiya covering the importance of human values for environmental sustainability

The resource person explained various environmental challenges such as pollution, global warming, and resource depletion. Emphasis was laid on the role of individuals in adopting sustainable practices like reducing waste, conserving water, and using renewable resources. The session also focused on human values such as empathy, responsibility, and ethical decision-making, highlighting how these values influence our interaction with the environment. Real-life examples and practical suggestions were shared to motivate students. The presidential address was given by Dr. P. S. Trimukhe. The program was run by Ms. A. K. Balsaraf

vi. Conclusion, with Feedback on the Programme:

The seminar proved to be highly informative and inspiring for the participants. It successfully enhanced awareness about environmental sustainability and emphasized the importance of human values in preserving nature. The program encouraged students to adopt eco-friendly practices in their daily lives and to contribute towards building a sustainable future. Overall, the seminar was a meaningful initiative in promoting environmental consciousness and responsible citizenship.
