B) Report

i) Title: Regional Workshop on CBPR

ii) Introduction:

Community-based participatory research (CBPR) is an approach to health, Social status of society and environmental research meant to increase the value of studies for both researchers and the communities participating in a study. The CBPR approach is particularly attractive for academics and public health professionals struggling to address the persistent problems of health care disparities in populations that Health and Human Services has designated as priority populations (including racial and ethnic minorities; low-income, rural, and inner-city populations; women; and children).

iii) Objectives

1. Transformation of knowledge in rural community
2. To Acknowledges community as a unit of Identity
3. To Builds on strengths and resources within the community
4. To Facilitates a collaborative, equitable partnership in all phases of research, involving an empowering and power-sharing process that attends to social inequalities

iv) Details of Participants: 58

Total 37 program Officers and 21 students Volunteers attended the program.
