i. Title

Skill Enhancement Programme on Academic Writing

ii. Introduction

Writing an academic report is different than writing an academic essay. In an academic report, you should provide a description or analysis of a set of actions you took to research a specific question or phenomenon. Academic reports are used to present and discuss the results of an experiment, survey, or other research method. It is highly essential for students to learn academic writing.

iii. Objectives of the Programme/ issues addressed

➢ To make students aware the difference between writing an academic essay and academic report.
➢ To make students aware the guidelines for formal academic writing.

iv. Details of Participants

51 participants (30 Male and 21 female) attended the programme.

v. Brief Summary of Events/ Sessions

The program has been initiated by introductory remarks of Dr. S. S. Kulkarni. Then Mr. S. S. Kshirasagar introduced the resource person Mr.. S. C. Gangawane, Assistant professor, Dept. of Biotechnology, Dayanand Science College, Latur. In his lecture, Mr. S.C. Gangawane has given emphasis on different aspects of academic writing. Vote of thanks was given by Miss. Kalyani Dhule.

vi. Conclusion, with Feedback on the Programme

The programme covered the basics of academic writing. The resource person explained the guidelines for formal academic writing, including citing trustworthy sources and using correct grammar, spelling and punctuation. The attendees of this programme felt that the it was highly essential and it will help them to write good academic report by following guidelines of academic writing.
