Revised Syllabus for the B.A.F.Y.

(Semester I & II)

Course: History

Credit Based Semester and Grading System

[Revised Syllabus with effect from June 2019]

1. Introduction –

Reckoning the modern trends and theories of history, we have framed new courses of study for the B. A. students. Only the digestible concepts, theories are introduced to the students. It's more practical, relevant, pleasurable and enterprising contents are included. Our students prepare for competitive examinations we look after to make them aware of how to come in the streamline of the purpose. The committee members of the BOS were experienced they are aware of the international trends and emerge in the discipline and it is the most important factor while setting the curriculum.

2. Title of the Programme - Bachelor of Arts

3. Learning Objectives of the Programme –

- i) To familiarize the students with landmarks in Indian and World history and to learn the contemporary developments in India various fields.
- ii) Introduce students with regional history I.e. Maharashtra in medieval and modern period to discuss Maratha power, freedom struggle, its leaders and important developments in regional level.

4. Programme Specific Outcomes -

History is not just the events of past, it is the producer of the entangled situation of the present. Hence we can say that History has surrounded us and waits for the right time to explode.

It never lets one to forget past easily. Present has its own need and facilities. Some try to forget History where as some we History as per their necessity. All the sage and saints through their saying portray history is very good. It means that everyone is utilizing history according to their perspective only thing is we don't realize it as it is past and parcel of our life. When it becomes violent and aggressive, then we realize that past is still alive and exists. None of the countries can history of its own and make a new beginning. In this way, History always is alive giving a direction to presents hence history cannot be considered as only a syllabus to study. Countries may be ruled or became independent anytime but the feeling of patriotism remains in the hearts of the people. History provors people about going independence whenever they are ruled by. One historical truth is past condition creating present and it can giving new birth to future and so it is important to remind it.

5. Advantages of the course –

It will avail them to learn various new things regarding competitive examinations. It reflects the political, social, religious, economic aspects of ancient, medieval and modern India. The rich heritage of World, India and Maharashtra is helpful to become a good citizen of universe.

Learning Objectives –

1. To familiarize the basic features of Indian culture and to learn the socio-economic and political development
2. To discuss the growth and development of religion in ancient India.

Course Outcomes –

The course intends to provide an understanding of the social, economic and institutional bases of Ancient India. It is based on the premise that an understanding of Ancient Indian history is crucial to understand Indian history as a whole.

The ancient Indian concepts and paradigms relating to mental health are holistic and cover aspects that have been neglected by the modern mental health. The current trend in mental health research is heavily based in favor of biological aspects of psychological phenomena neglecting the basic entity, the mind. Correction of this partisan tilt is urgently needed.

Ancient Indian concepts prevalent in any culture have always influenced the development of knowledge, especially in the field of psychology.
