1. Mini Project/ Case Study:

Mini Project integrates theory and practice by providing students with an opportunity to work on real-world challenges. It can be used to learn about the basics of the Major Course. It is a short-term, practical academic assignment. It bridges the gap between theory and real-world application by requiring students to solve a specific problem, conduct a case study, or build a functional application either individually or in a small group. They carry 2 credits, require 60 hours of field-based learning, and involve group or individual research.

Case Study projects are intended to foster interdisciplinary learning, the development of practical skills, and community involvement in accordance with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 framework. Usually, students are required to assess a localized issue, do real-world research, and provide solutions that combine theoretical knowledge with practical applications. They carry 2 credits, require 60 hours of field-based or learning, and involve group or individual research.

2. Field Project:

Under the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, Field Projects are mandatory, practical college projects designed to bridge theoretical classroom knowledge with real-world socio-economic and environmental issues. They carry 2 credits, require 60 hours of field-based learning, and involve group or individual research at undergraduate level and 4 credits requires 120 hrs at postgraduate level.

3. Community Engagement Project:

Under the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020, Community Engagement Project are mandatory. These Projects emphasize social responsibility, where you assess community problems and design innovative, practical solutions. They carry 2 credits, require 60 hours of field-based learning, and involve group or individual research.

Project Report:

Students are required to submit a report of the project at the end of the semester (as per the time framework) in suggested format.
